WOMEN'S BAGGAGE.

(Punch rhymes thus merrily on the chief bore of modern traveling.)

How happy is the single life Of those who have not a wife To bother him with trunk And baggage, and load too great For man or horse to bear, Which railways charge for, over-weight,
And asks a double fare.

Full cars, as with your bride you post, Distract your anxious mind, Least this performance should be lost, Or that by left behind.
Her baggage as you travel down Life's hill, weighs more and more,
And still as balder grows your crown, Becomes a greater bore.

Outstripped by fashion vile and vain, Hoop petticoats, and vests, New British females, to contain, Require no end of chests.
To which bags, baskets, bundles, add,
Two umbrellas to name,
Enough to drive a poor man mad, A job with rage inflame.

The cake says away o'er your head,
With luggage piled above,
Of overturn you rise in dread,
With her whom you should love;
Then you, like a lumber stevedore, Must see that lumber stowed,
And fears about it in the train, Your heart and soul corrode.

Thus does your whole journey spoil Of yours that the carriage, Thus keeps you on the fret and broil, Until peace and comfort break.
With all these things, all her things, (How many!) to isolate,
The fair excursion on you brings A wagon-load of woe.

OLLA-PODRIDA.

—Prayer should be the key of the day and the lock of the night.

—When is a farmer very maternal?
When he cradles his grain.

—The barber who dressed the head of a barrel, has been engaged to curl the locks of a canal.

—There is a man in England so fat that a child was recently killed by his shadow falling on it.

—What tree represents a person who persists in incurring debts?—Willow, (will owe.)

—If one hundred and twelve pounds make one hundred-weight, how many will make your wife waltz?

—"Sir, have you read the ode I composed to Sleep?"—"Oh, yes, and it composed me to sleep."

—The reason why whales frequent the Arctic Seas is, probably, because they supply the "Northern lights" with oil.

—"Pa" they tell us about the angry ocean; what makes the ocean angry?"
"Oh, it has been crossed so often."

—"Up to snuff" is now rendered, "Elevated to an equal capacity with the tit-illating particles of the tobacco plant."

—The feeling of love for her children survives all other affections in every mother's heart.

—"Whose son are you, my little boy?"
"I ain't nobody's son; I'm Mr. Thompson's nephew, sir."

—You know mock-modesty as you do mock-turtle, from its being the produce of a calf's head.

—Isn't it rather an odd fact in natural history that the softest water is caught when it rains the hardest?

—The sun is a very bright body, but the gentle moon, when she steps in between him and the earth, takes the shine out of him.

—"Miss, what have you done to be ashamed of, that you blush so?" "Sir, what have the roses and the strawberries and the peaches done that they blush so?"

—Fashionable circles were never so numerous as now. Almost every lady that appears in the street is the center of one.

—A rascally old bachelor says a man frequently admits that he was in the wrong, but a woman never—she was "only mistaken."

—"Tommy, my son, what is longitude?"
"A clothes-line, papa." "Prove it, my son." Because it stretches from pole to pole.

—When you receive a note from your lady love, and kiss it (as, of course, you are expected to do), why is it like the nightmare? Because it is the ink-youbuss.

—An individual was arrested the other day while endeavoring to pick a gentleman's pocket. He said he wasn't used to the business, and was just trying to get his hand in.

—Learn in childhood, if you can, that happiness is not outside but inside. A good heart and a clear conscience bring happiness, no riches and no circumstances alone ever do.

—The Chinese method of taking off boots is as follows: They place the boot in a vice, and apply a yoke to the neck, worked by a wheel, which only stops working when the boot or head comes off.

—That was a triumphant appeal of the lover of antiquity, who, in arguing the superiority of old architecture over the new, said, "Where will you find any modern building that has lasted so long as the ancient?"

—"What do you know of the defendant, Mr. Thompson?" asked the counsel of a witness. "Do you consider him a good musician?"—"On that point I wish to be particular," replied Thompson. "I don't wish to insinuate that Mr. Slopes is not a good musician. Not at all. But I could not help observing that after he commenced playing on the clarinet, a saw-filer, who lived next door, left home, and has never since been heard of!"

The Tombstone-Bread—A baker in England stole a tombstone for the hearth of his oven. One of his customers, finding a death's-head on the bottom of his loaf of bread, ran in dismay to his deacon, fearing the end of the world was approaching.
The latter was in equal trepidation, when, on examining his own loaf, he found the bones. In their alarm they had recourse to the person, who could afford them no consolation, inasmuch as "Resurgam" was legibly set forth in bold relief upon his own loaf.

BASHFUL WOMEN.—Bashful women are not always the most modest. Prudery is often assumed rather to keep off suspicion of criminality than to protect from criminality itself. There is a degree of reserve, which, "like vaulting ambition," overleaps itself.

INTELLIGENCE OF THE BRUTE CREATION.
Carlyle says: "On the whole, there is more in this universe than our philosophy has dreamt of. A dog's instinct is a voice of nature too; and further, it has never blabbed itself away in idle jargon and hypothesis, but always adhered to the practical, and grown in silence by continual communion with fact." "We do the animals injustice. Their body resembles our body, Buffon says, with its four limbs, with its spinal marrow main organs in the head, and so forth; but have they not a kind of soul, equally to the rude draught and imperfect imitation of ours? It is a strange, an almost solemn and pathetic thing, to see an intelligence imprisoned in that dumb, rude form, struggling to express itself out of that, even as we do out of our imprisonment, and succeed very imperfectly."

A CONSCIENTIOUS WITNESS.—In one of our courts lately, a man who was called on to appear as a witness could not be found. On the Judge asking where he was, a grave, elderly gentleman rose up and with much emphasis, said:
"Your honor, he's gone."
"Gone?" said the Judge, "where is he gone?"
"That I cannot inform you," replied the communicative gentleman, "but he is dead."

This is considered the most guarded answer on record.

A man said to another, "Which is the heavier, a quart of rum or a quart of water?" "Rum, most assuredly, for I saw a man who weighs two hundred pounds, staggering under a quart of rum, when he would have carried a gallon of water with ease."

"If you wish your neighbors to notice you, buy a dog and tie him up in the cellar all night. They won't sleep for thinking of you."

"I go through my work," as the needle said to the idle boy. "But not till you're hard pushed," as the idle boy said to the needle.
